The adaptable room-in-room system for a flexible future

The new hybrid world of work requires new offices: sustainable, human-centered, and ready to change in a snap. Mute Modular is an adaptable room-in-room system for shaping flexible, plug-and-play office spaces for new and dynamic work environments.

Mute Modular makes creating offices easy and quick. Choose from 53 different rooms designed to serve four main office functions or create tailor-made configurations. Rooms can be placed separately or combined into multifunctional hubs that can act as central points of the office. What's best: with Mute Modular, you build an office in hours, not weeks, thanks to our patent-pending click-in system. And you modify your spaces freely - the same modules can shape constructions of different forms and sizes. In case of relocation, the Modular room can be easily disassembled and rebuilt in another place. Plus, each is equipped with all you need: lighting, electrical installation, ventilation, and sound-absorbing modules.

Agile and durable, the Mute Modular means less waste, less material, reduced CO₂ emissions, and infinitely more flexibility in designing and office. Which is precisely what the blended world of work now requires.
